In line with best practice, these checks will be repeated every three years for the appropriate people. Whilst the information provided by the DBS is important in terms of staff employment, Sevenoaks Town Council recognises that this is only part of the overall policy to create and sustain a safe environment for children that use our services and engage with staff, Councillors and volunteers.

Categories of Abuse

Physical Abuse

Physical Abuse may involve hitting, shaking, throwing, poisoning, burning or scalding, drowning, suffocating, or otherwise causing physical harm to the child. Physical harm may also be caused when a parent or carer fabricates the symptoms of, or deliberately induces illness in a child.

Emotional Abuse

Emotional Abuse is the persistent emotional ill-treatment of a child such as to cause severe and persistent adverse effects on the child's emotional development. It may involve conveying to children that they are worthless or unloved, inadequate, or valued only insofar as they meet the needs of another person. It may include not giving children opportunities to express their views deliberately silencing them or 'making fun' of what they say or how they communicate. It may feature age or developmentally inappropriate expectations being imposed on children. It may include interactions beyond the child's developmental capability, overprotection, limitation of exploration or learning, and/or prevention of normal social interaction. It may involve seeing or hearing ill-treatment of another. It may involve serious bullying, causing children to frequently feel frightened or in danger, or exploitation and corruption of children. Some level of emotional abuse is involved in all types of ill-treatment of a child, although it may occur alone.

Sexual Abuse

Sexual abuse involves forcing or enticing a child or young person to take part in sexual activities, not necessarily involving a high level of violence, whether or not the child is aware of what is happening. The activities may involve physical contact, including assault by penetration (for example, rape or oral sex) or non-penetrative acts such as masturbation, kissing, rubbing and touching outside of clothing. They may also include non-contact activities, such as involving children in looking at, or in the production of, sexual images, watching sexual activities, encouraging children to behave in sexually inappropriate ways, or grooming a child in preparation for abuse (including via the internet). Sexual abuse is not solely perpetrated by adult males. Women can also commit acts of sexual abuse, as can other children.

Neglect

Neglect is the persistent failure to meet a child's basic physical and/or psychological needs, likely to result in the serious impairment of the child's health or development. Neglect may occur during pregnancy as a result of maternal substance abuse. Once a child is born, neglect may involve a parent or carer failing to:

- provide adequate food, clothing and shelter (including exclusion from home or abandonment);
- protect a child from physical and emotional harm or danger;
- ensure adequate supervision (including the use of inadequate care-givers);
- ensure access to appropriate medical care or treatment.

It may also include neglect of, or unresponsiveness to, a child's basic emotional needs.

Other Safeguarding Concerns

Radicalisation

From 1 July 2015, Prevent is a formal duty for under Section 26 of the Counter-Terrorism and Security Act 2014, to have “due regard to the need to prevent people from being drawn into terrorism”. In light of daily reported threats we must take responsibility in the shared challenge of tackling radicalisation and extremism by supporting Prevent. It is essential that staff or volunteers are able to identify children who may be vulnerable to radicalisation and know what to do when they are identified. Protecting children from the risk of radicalisation should be seen as part of safeguarding s and is similar in nature to protecting children from other harms e.g. drugs, gangs, neglect and sexual exploitation, whether these come from within their family or are the product of outside influences.

All staff and volunteers must to complete mandatory online training and familiarise themselves with the Channel – the multi-agency approach to protect people from being drawn into terrorist related activity – referral process.

If staff or volunteers have a concern about potential radicalisation, normal safeguarding procedures should be followed. Staff can also contact Kent police on 101 to seek advice or e-mail the Kent Channel coordinator directly at channel@kent.pnn.police.uk

Child Sexual Exploitation (CSE)

CSE involves exploitative situations, contexts and relationships where young people receive something e.g. food, accommodation, drugs, alcohol, gifts, money or in some cases simply affection as a result of engaging in sexual activities. What marks out exploitation is an imbalance of power in the relationship.

CSE involves varying degrees of coercion, intimidation or enticement, including unwanted pressure from peers to have sex, sexual bullying, including cyberbullying and grooming.

Advice regarding CSE can be accessed via the link below. The CSE toolkit helps identify levels of risk if there are concerns around CSE:

<http://www.kscb.org.uk/guidance/sexual-abuse-and-exploitation>

Free online training about many safeguarding issues including CSE and FGM are available from KSCB:

<http://www.kscb.org.uk/e-learning/e-learning-courses>

If staff or volunteers have a concern about potential CSE, normal safeguarding procedures should be followed.

Female Genital Mutilation (FGM)

FGM comprises all procedures involving partial or total removal of the external female genitalia or other injury to the female genital organs. It is often carried out on girls aged between 5-8 years. FGM is illegal in the UK and a form of child abuse with long-lasting harmful consequences. Professionals in all agencies, and individuals and groups in relevant communities, need to be alert to the possibility of a girl being at risk of FGM, or already having suffered FGM. Where an Early Help Worker is concerned that an act of FGM appears to have been carried/may be carried out on a girl who is aged under 18, there is a statutory duty upon that individual to report it to the police.

What does this mean for you?

If you suspect FGM has been carried out you have a duty to report it to the police. This became a mandatory duty on 15 October 2015 so to not report would be an offence.

What are the indicators?

There are a range of indicators and risk factors, full details can be found via the links below. In general there are risk factors related to culture, country of origin, previous practice in the family (mother, sisters etc.). There are then risk factors it may be about to happen e.g. arrangements for extended holidays to stay or visit relatives in a high risk area (e.g. east Africa, Somalia, Eritrea, Sudan but also Egypt and parts of West Africa and the Middle East). Girls as young as 5 years old from families originating in risk areas may talk about a special ceremony or party involving girls of a similar age. Refusal to allow the child to attend PSHE/SEX education lessons might also be relevant. Indicators that FGM has recently taken place can be physical discomfort, urinary problems etc. Indicators that this has happened in the past include recurrent infection or psychological issues. Older girls may not realise that the problems relate to the FGM that they experienced when they were young.

Further information is available via the NSPCC helpline on 0800 0283550

The full national guidance is available at this link

<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/female-genital-mutilation-guidelines>

A resource pack is available

<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/female-genital-mutilation-resource-pack/female-genital-mutilation-resource-pack>

If staff or volunteers have a concern about potential FGM, or any other cultural traditions, rituals or beliefs such as forced marriage, honor based violence, spirit possession or witchcraft abuse, then normal safeguarding procedures should be followed.
